Statement of Rep. Neil Abercrombie on House Passage of the Iraq Supplemental Funding Bill

“Our Republican friends in Congress accuse anyone who opposes endless war in Iraq of somehow politicizing it. However, giving President Bush whatever he demands is not a Congressional responsibility. It is simply the role Republicans have chosen.

They argue that the proper way to demonstrate support for U.S. troops at war in Iraq is to keep them there. I believe the clearest expression of support for our men and women in uniform is to bring them home.”
