Boehner Statement on RSC Budget Proposal

WASHINGTON, D.C. – U.S. House Majority Leader John Boehner (R-OH) issued the following statement today on the budget proposal put forth by the Republican Study Committee (RSC):

“The RSC budget is a serious effort to address a serious problem: the runaway cost of government that threatens our children’s future. This serious problem can only be solved by making tough choices. The RSC budget is an important contribution to the process of putting forth a responsible budget blueprint that takes the interests of our children and grandchildren into account.”
