Line-Item Veto: Members empowered, 254-173, presidents to veto discretionary spending items providing that both houses of Congress then vote to approve of the rescissions. A yes vote was to pass HR 3521 over arguments it would undermine Congress's constitutional "power of the purse."

New Accounting Rules: Members required, 245-180, new rules for figuring the budgetary impact of federal loan programs. These private-sector-style rules would raise the book cost of these programs and thus make them more vulnerable to budget cuts. A yes vote was to pass HR 3581.
